A love of real estate and a desire to represent clients makes Kim an approachable, attentive agent who works hard to exceed her clients' expectations. Kim grew up in Bethesda and graduated a "lifer" from the Stone Ridge School of the Sacred Heart, after which she studied English at the Catholic University of America. She brings an extensive knowledge of the area, dedication, and professionalism to her work at TTR Sotheby's International Realty. She has the great benefit of working closely with Corey Burr, one of the area's most highly esteemed agents, with over 30 years of experience in Maryland and Washington, DC. Kim is licensed in Maryland and Washington, DC. She lives in Kensington with her husband and two sons.
